

2016 Roundtable Series

Meeting the challenge of antimicrobial resistance: Working together across political, professional and public fronts

ROUNDTABLE TWO: Thursday 19 May 2016. The Wellcome Trust, London Moving the battle against AMR forward – the fiscal and educational challenges

- 0930 Registration and networking
- 1000 WELCOME AND OVERVIEW
- SESSION ONE: Antimicrobial consumption and appropriate use - the global challenge
Chair: Dr Nick Brown, Consultant Medical Microbiologist, Addenbrookes Hospital
- 1010 The global antimicrobial prescribing landscape
Abby Colson, Research Associate, Management Science, University of Strathclyde
- 1030 Defining responsible antimicrobial use
Inge Gyssens, Professor of Infectious Diseases, Hasselt University and Radboud University Medical Center, Nijmegen the Netherlands
- 1050 Measuring global consumption – the challenges and benefits
Herman Goossens, Professor of Medical Microbiology, University of Antwerp in Belgium
- 1115 COFFEE AND NETWORKING
- 1145 Industry viewpoint
- 1205 Panel Discussion: Are global definitions for responsible use and achieving consistency in measuring consumption globally achievable?
- 1230 LUNCH AND NETWORKING
- 1330 Invited lecture: Antimicrobial resistance - views from the actuarial profession
Matthew Edwards, Head of Mortality and Longevity, Willis Towers Watson (Global advisory, broking and solutions company), London
- SESSION TWO: Investing in people
Chair: Herman Goossens, Professor of Medical Microbiology at the University of Antwerp in Belgium
- 1350 The Global Innovation Fund: a way to replenish and secure research expertise?
Hala Audi, Head of AMR Review team, London
- 1410 A first global response: the Massive Open Online Course on Antimicrobial Stewardship
David Jenkins, Consultant Medical Microbiologist, University Hospitals of Leicester
- 1430 Investing in infection prevention: the critical role of nurses in stewardship
Dr Emma Burnett, Lecturer and Researcher in Infection Prevention & Control, University of Dundee
- 1450 Educating the public - the value of awareness programmes
Diane Ashiru-Oredope, Pharmacist Lead, AMR Programme, Public Health England, London
- 1510 QUESTION TIME: Financing solutions to the antimicrobial resistance crisis
Chair: Professor Laura Piddock, Professor of Microbiology, University of Birmingham, Chair in Public Engagement, and Director of the public awareness initiative Antibiotic Action
- Join a panel of parliamentarians and decision makers to respond to questions under the following key headings:
- Regulatory and governmental incentives
 - Funding antibiotic discovery and development
 - Investing in people and skills
 - Promoting the value of antibiotics through public education
- 1530 CLOSING REMARKS